

"Concept Kitchen" as a solid framework for chaotic everyday aesthetics.

The kitchen system can be flexibly adapted to the user's lifestyle. The objects integrated by him enrich the minimalist kitchen furniture with an entirely individual dimension, which goes far beyond the functionality as a workplace.

Whether as an island solution or in combination with a traditional kitchen range, the modules can be arranged as desired. The system of the mobile kitchen is currently based on six basic modules which, thanks to the matching equipment, can be combined e.g. with the individual work surface with integrated hob, sink centre, butcher block or storage shelf.

The stainless steel base elements can be disassembled and have grid holes for the flexible positioning of structural panels and shelves. A simple plug-in principle allows easy assembly and disassembly of the basic elements without use of tools. The modular kitchen designed by Bureau Kilian Schindler celebrated its premiere within the framework of the Design Deutschland exhibition in Milan and New York. With its polarizing modernity, the project initiated by Naber GmbH caused a sensation, and has already won prestigious design awards such as the Interior Innovation Award and the red dot product design award.